THROWING MUD AT SENATOR JONES.

The Delamar, Idaho, Nugget, which is a free coinage paper, but not of the Cleveland or Sherman kind, tells exact truths in plain words regarding Senator John P. Jones, and the "hop of my thumb" editors who attempt to belittle him since he left the Republican party, because, as he says, that party is unalterably opposed to free coinage. It says:

"Just so long as Senator Jones trained with the Republicans all the western Republican newspapers were instituted in their praise of his noble efforts in behalf of bimetalism. For over twenty years his voice had been raised in the legislative halls of the United States whenever an opportunity presented itself to champion the cause of the white metal. And not only this, but on every question where the masses were concerned as against the money power, Senator Jones has always been on the right side. He has been an ideal Senator to the masses, and he has not suffered his light to be put under a bushel. All over the United States the name of Senator Jones is honored and his great ability recognized, and even Senator Sherman admitted, when Mr. Jones made his great silver speech in 1893, that it was unanswerable.

"Now Senator Jones has left the Republican party because he says he sees no hope for free coinage of silver from that party. Who, we wonder, is in a better position to pass judgment on the question than Senator Jones? I need upwards of twenty years' experience time enough to form a correct opinion in the matter? Doubtless it was a hard and disagreeable task to Senator Jones to sever the ties that had bound him for over twenty years to the party he loved, but he had the courage of his conviction and did not hesitate to follow them, and it appears to us that if Mr. Jones was compelled to take this step the chances for free coinage in the Republican party must be very small indeed.

"But mark the effect of Senator Jones' action on our so-called free silver Republican newspapers. They forget all his noble work and call him a crank because he has allowed his honor and convictions to arise superior to his party allegiance and every 'hop of my thumb' editor, who, in fact, is not worthy to lace the Senator's shoes, thinks he is showing his superior intelligence by throwing mud at him.

"There is one consolation in all this, and that is that the people know what Senator Jones' career in the Senate has been too well for anything these maligning editors can say to have any effect on them. They know that in their 'smartness' at the expense of Senator Jones they are only injuring themselves. May heaven send us a few more senators like John P. Jones."

THE INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission in session at Denver is hearing arguments for and against a reduction of freight rates from Denver and Pueblo to eastern and western points. Several business men complained that the rates from Denver to points south and west were as high as from Chicago to those points. As an instance rates from Denver to El Paso were about the same as from Chicago, 1,000 miles further away. They knew of no reason why Denver should not have a chance to ship its machinery, yet it was prevented by the freight rates, which were all in favor of Chicago. The general traffic agent of the Union Pacific system frankly conceded that rates from Denver were too high, and he favored granting to Denver the same rate to the Pacific Coast that is enjoyed by Chicago. The assistant traffic manager of the Santa Fe said his line would be willing to give the Chicago rate to San Francisco for Denver products if that would not involve a corresponding lowering of rates to intermediate points. Freight Agent Smurr of the Southern Pacific told of the condition on his road and contended that it should be allowed to maintain existing rates.

The roads practically conceded that Denver and Pueblo shall be made terminals, that is distributing centers. The Southern Pacific insisted that the Commission shall not extend this ruling to intermediate points between Denver and the Coast, as that would compel the road to abandon competition with water carriers on transcontinental business and fall back on local business, which would compel it to help develop its tributary country.

How the gentlemen who compose the Interstate Commerce Commission were impressed with the arguments of the business men of Denver and the representatives of the several railroads, has not yet transpired. The argument of Mr. Smurr, who frankly admitted that to extend to intermediate points between Denver and the Pacific Coast the concessions made to Denver would compel the railroad to help develop its tributary country, could not have impressed the Commission with its force or logic. If the Commission thinks it unreasonable for railroads to charge the Chicago rate from Denver to San Francisco what must be its opinion of the injustice of charging about three times as much from Chicago to Nevada points as is charged to Sacramento? Must rates to Nevada be kept up to alight the traffic will bear that the railroad company may not, as Mr. Smurr says, be compelled to help develop the country along the road? If the railroad had to depend more upon local traffic it would doubtless reduce the price of irritable lands as well as freight rates to induce immigration, neither of which it seems disposed to do so long as the Interstate Commerce Commission permits it to fix rates to suit itself.

ESTHETIC OSCAR.

His friends are called—Revolving Testimony.

LONDON, April 26.—Oscar Wilde and Alfred Taylor were brought for trial today at the Old Bailey and pleaded not guilty. Men and women fought for standing room near the door through which the prisoners must enter court. The jury, composed of highly intelligent-looking middle-aged tradesmen, was polled at 10:20. A few minutes later Wilde and Taylor were placed in the prisoners' dock. Wilde's face was drawn and haggard. His hair had been cut and his swaggar had entirely disappeared.

Gill, on behalf of the Treasury, opened the prosecution, reciting the general history of the case, dwelling on the association of Wilde with Taylor, and giving a graphic description of Taylor's darkened, perfume-scented room, where Wilde was in the habit of meeting his associates. Counsel went in detail through the various charges, reviewing all the testimony already presented.

Charles Parker was the first witness. His testimony was most revolting, but the judge held it to be necessary that the charges against Wilde "should be explained in detail."

DURANT'S EXAMINATION.

His Counsel Trying to Cast Suspicion on Wolfe.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Judge Connelley on 11 o'clock was again packed this morning at the resumption of the preliminary examination of Theodore Durant for the murder of Marian Williams.

Edward A. Wolfe was the first witness. He testified concerning the Christian Endeavor meeting at Dr. Vogel's house on Good Friday night. He left Vogel's at 11:20 and escorted Miss Lord home. He had come from his ranch that afternoon at 3, made purchases about town, dined at a restaurant and went to Vogel's at 8:15. Witness was severely cross-examined for the defense. Counsel for Durant compared the hats and overcoats of Wolfe and Durant to show that Wolfe might have been mistaken for Durant. The defense tried to cast a suspicion on Wolfe. "The same tactics were pursued as were towards Rev. John George Gibson yesterday. A resemblance in the clothing and in the build between Durant and Wolfe was the only point made."

THE NICARAGUA AFFAIR.

The indemnity may be paid.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A constant exchange of cable messages in cipher was kept up yesterday and until late last evening between United States Ambassador Bayard at London and Secretary Gresham. Acting upon messages from Washington Bayard endeavored to obtain from the British Foreign Office a few hours delay in the enforcement of the ultimatum sent to Nicaragua. Bayard was also instructed to make certain suggestions regarding the method of the payment of the indemnity.

The result of these negotiations, briefly stated, is that Admiral Stevenson, the British commander at Corinto, will not enforce the ultimatum until midnight to-night, and it is expected that Nicaragua will make satisfactory arrangements to pay the indemnity of $75,000 before then.

The Exercises at the University.

The athletic exercises at the University were very interesting yesterday and the program was carried out to the letter. Mr. Calne of the Alumni made a pleasing address and Miss Lincoln followed, gracefully dedicating a tree to Dr. Stubbs. The latter was the last speaker, and in his ever pleasant and eloquent manner accepted the tree and tendered his thanks to the students. "America" was sung and the exercises were over.

Only two applicants presented themselves for the civil service examination yesterday. R. C. Stoddard of Reno and B. F. Hudespath of Independence were examined as applicants for mail clerks. Geo. W. Leuberg, U. S. civil service examiner from Washington, D. C., conducted the examination.

M. P. Light, the organizer of the Foresters, has succeeded in procuring a charter list for a new lodge at Carson. The lodge will be instituted to-night and will start with one forty charter members. Quite a delegation of Foresters will go from Reno to assist in instituting the new lodge.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

Best Spring Remedy in the World—It Makes People well.

There is one true specific for disease arising from a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's Celery Compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's Celery Compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter, Paine's Celery Compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

The medical journals of this country have given more space in the last few years to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's Celery Compound has made people well than to any other one subject.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

M. Hammerly, a well-known Business man of Hillsboro, Va., sends this testimony to the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Seven years ago, I hurt my leg, the injury leaving a sore which led to erysipelas. My sufferings were extreme, my leg from the knee to the ankle, being a solid sore, which began to extend to other parts of the body. After trying various remedies, I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had finished the first bottle, I experienced great relief; the second bottle effected a complete cure."

CARSON CITY, April 26, 1895.

The Mint-Jones examination before U. S. Commissioners Edwards was resumed at 10 A. M. with all the attorneys and witnesses present, except General Clarke. An extra heavy lot of bullion, about 25 shoe bars, together with four of the iron moulds in which they were cast, were hauled over from the mint to the court-room under the executive supervision of Detective Furlong, and the decks being cleared for action the examination commenced.

Inspector Mason corrected a statement which he had made relative to Defendant Jones a few days ago regarding his financial standing and conduct in connection with the mint, loaning money, etc. It was Henry and not Jones who had recommended the loan.

Detective Grant of the Chicago Detective Bureau took the stand in explanation of the relative values of the bullion from the Savage mine and that included in the spurious or counterfeit melt numbered "104," pointing out the moulds above referred to in which the same had been cast. The bars fitted them exactly. Considerable of Mr. Grant's testimony was given relative to the melting and refining department, the looks and other details connected therewith.

On being sworn Detective Grant gave his true name as Albert L. Gallagher, stating in explanation of apparently sailing under false colors that he was directed by his chief officer to assume that name for this occasion, something not uncommon for detectives. He also stated, on cross-examination that he had at first studied Jones suspiciously on account of his apparently having and spending considerable money. The annual settlements of 1893-94 balanced correctly and so stood.

Warren Noteware, bookkeeper of the mint, took the stand and explanatorily exhibited and illustrated the books of the institution, including the routine work of his office, but more particularly the intricate history of the "counterfeit melt," No. 104.

Pearis Ellis of the mint was called to the stand and made a brief statement relative to the financial condition of Defendant Jones when he first came to Carson. He did not consider him a very affluent individual or much of a capitalist at that time. At 4 P. M. the court adjourned and the bullion was all hauled back to the mint.

INCIDENTALS.

The samples of bullion taken to Virginia last evening for assay by Frank Fielding on behalf of the defendant are in course of treatment and will be heard of in due time.

The finding of a duplicate key to the refinery in Defendant Jones' desk, as testified by Melter and Refiner Harris on Wednesday, had rather of a bad look until Harris explained yesterday that the key had been found by workmen in cleaning out a vault, behind or beneath some books, and was thrown upon Jones' desk. If Jones had any surreptitious use for that key he would have been likely to have taken better care of it.

In the wrangle between attorneys relative to newspaper reporters, some one said that the reports were "garbled" and incorrect; others said they were not. If there has been anything wrong it has been from injudiciously not giving the reporters a better and more comfortable chance.

Last evening $83,000 more of unparted gold bullion was shipped from the Carson to the San Francisco mint.

A DOUBLED-HEADED FREAK.

The other day a queer contribution came to Tim Dempsey's collection of natural and unnatural Nevada curios, in the shape of the front combined end of a double-headed calf. Jake Winters, the Lake Tahoe stage-driver, brought it in from a ranch on or near his route. He was called to take a look at the interesting freak, where it had been thrown, being dead, to get it out of the way. The dogs had been fooling with it some and torn off both its ears, but the rest of the body was all right except the head end itself. There were two distinct heads facing in opposite directions both of the regular calf style and size with two properly developed noses and four eyes. He cut off that duplex head, and when he had a little spare time he scooped out the interior and very deftly filled it with plaster of Paris, using select bits of dark beer bottles for eyes, thus making the thing look quite respectably disreputable. It certainly is a remarkable curiosity. Jake's wife objected to his giving it away, but he refused to take away chances on possible consequences of having such a freak about the house. The twin combination died at birth, splitting its wind trying to beat out of both mouths at the same time.

The Nebraska Sheriff Takes His Prisoner With Him

Sheriff Kavanaugh of Nebraska and Sheriff Wright of Utah, who took a fugitive from justice from a constable at Battle Mountain, were held to answer by a Justice of the Peace in heavy bonds. They sued out a writ of habeas corpus returnable before Judge Fitzgerald, who found their papers all right and ordered them released. Yesterday Sheriff Kavanaugh applied to Governor Jones for extradition papers and the fugitive will be taken back to Nebraska to serve two years in the penitentiary for cattle stealing.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

A Disturbance Above the Normal—Forecasters for May.

(Copyrighted 1895, by W. T. Foster.)

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 26.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm waves to cross the continent from April 28th to May 2d, and the next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about May 3d, cross the western mountain country by close of the 4th, the great central valleys from the 5th to the 7th and the Eastern States about the 8th.

This disturbance will average about the normal in force and will be much like the storm that crossed the continent from the 5th to the 10th of April. Heavy rains will occur only in small localities and drought will prevail during the passing of this storm.

The second storm wave of May will reach the Pacific coast about the 9th, cross the west of Rockies country by the close of the 10th, the great central valleys from the 11th to the 13th and the Eastern States about the 14th.

The rainfall from this storm will be light but better distributed than the preceding disturbance. The rainfall of May will be much heavier in the Southern States east of the 95th meridian than in the Northern States.

The warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about May 3d and 5th, the great central valleys the 5th and 11th and the Eastern States the 7th and 13th. The cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about May 6th and 12th, great central valleys the 5th and 14th and the Eastern States the 10th and 16th.

It is desirable that forecasts should be made local as far as possible, and I am gradually bringing my general forecasts of temperature and rainfall to smaller districts. For a time I will use in these bulletins nine districts to cover the United States, but hope soon to increase the number.

North Pacific slope temperature for May will be below, rainfall above normal. South Pacific slope temperature above and rainfall below.

Upper Mississippi valley and upper lakes, temperature above and rainfall below. Lower Missouri and lower Mississippi valleys, temperature below and rainfall above. Ohio valley and lower lakes, temperature above and rainfall below. Tennessee, North Carolina and the country south of them, temperature below and rainfall above. Atlantic coast, Virginia north and all that country east of the Alleghenies, temperature about normal and rainfall below.

Following are about the average temperatures in degrees and rainfall in inches of the above named districts for May:

	TEMP.	RAIN.
North Pacific slope.....	50	3.00
South Pacific slope.....	63	1.50
Upper Mo. val. and Manitoba..	55	3.00
Neb., E. Col., E. N. Mex. etc.	64	2.00
Up. Miss. val. and N. lakes....	56	3.00
Lower Mo. and lower Miss. Val.	68	4.00
Ohio valley and lower lakes....	59	4.00
Tennessee, N. C. and south....	72	4.00
Atlantic coast Vir. and north..	68	4.00

Brilliant auroras in May will probably be observed near the 4th, 19th and 31st and the severest storms about the same dates. Heaviest rains will occur from the 15th to the 25th, principally in the southeastern States.

Frosts in the northern States about the 6th to the 8th and 17th to 19th.

A Fine Store.

H. J. Thyges has completely renovated his store and he now has one of the finest places in the country. He has had the entire store-room repapered and varnished, and has taken especial pains to make it bright and cheerful. His card rooms are splendidly arranged and comfortable. For a pleasant game of whist or a quiet business talk no better place can be found. A new electrical annunciator has been put in and convenient push buttons are at every hand. The walls are ornamented with handsome signs and pictures. He has also fitted up a quiet nook especially for the cattle men to do their trading and transact business. A table and writing materials are furnished for their exclusive use, and every effort will be made to please. He keeps the very best of domestic and imported goods, and is sole agent for several brands of mineral water, beer and other beverages. Families, wedding suppers, social parties or banquets can be supplied with wines or anything in his line on the shortest notice and the best of terms. His store is in the First National Bank building, Virginia street, Reno, Nevada.

Almost a Fire.

During the gale last night at about 11 o'clock, Thomas Biggs was coming down town and he discovered a brisk fire in some rubbish back of a vacant house on the corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets. Dr. Phillips, who had been out on a professional call, also came along and the two men had some difficulty in putting the blaze out. Had they not happened along in an opportune time there would have been a terrible fire, as the buildings were all frame in the neighborhood and built closely together. There was no alarm.

FACTS ABOUT MONEY

Heroic Measures Required to Restore Prosperity.

EDITOR JOURNAL: Some of the leaders of the American Bimetallic party seem inclined to ridicule the Omaha platform on account of the number of issues it contains, and claim that the Bimetallic party shows great wisdom by embracing but the one issue. Now, Mr. Editor, I would like for some champion of the Bimetallic party to tell the Populists how the free coinage of silver, unaided by the other money reforms embodied in the Omaha platform, is going to break the corner which the money kings already hold on our currency. The party of one issue can hardly expect that the free coinage of silver will stimulate the production of that metal enough to result in the coinage of more than seventy-five million dollars per year, and if our European creditors would be generous enough to allow it to remain here, it would not increase our circulating medium to exceed one dollar per capita a year, an amount which our own bondholders could retire from circulation at pleasure, and with but a trifling inconvenience to themselves.

Senator Stewart in his letter to Mr. Julian states: "Ten thousand banks, thirty-seven hundred of which are national banks owning or controlling the press and the railroads, are able on all occasions to secure a majority of the seven hundred or eight hundred delegates who compose a national convention of either of the old parties."

Mr. Editor, these ten thousand banks, which Senator Stewart says have such a great power over the conventions of the two old parties, are themselves hopelessly loaded down with liabilities, and if they had the entire supply of silver money of the world it would lack five hundred million dollars of amounting to what they owe depositors alone, and to liquidate their entire liabilities in metallic money would require all the gold and silver money of the planet. Now, Mr. Editor, the liabilities of the banks of the United States in amount equal the total supply of metallic money of the whole world, and yet the banks only represent about one-seventh of the volume of debt in the United States, and the United States only represent one-eighth of the volume of debt of the world, and yet in the face of this showing the American Bimetallic party is launched on the sea of American politics and prescribes the free coinage of silver as the remedy for the tough times now prevailing.

The People's party in its first national convention realized that the condition of the country was such as to require heroic treatment, and the union of labor forces that day consummated had the courage to formulate a remedy to meet the emergency, and the Omaha platform is broad enough for every true friend of the free coinage of silver to stand on.

ARBOR DAY

How It was Observed at the Public Schools.

The Arbor Day exercises in the public schools yesterday show that Principal Bray and his teachers understand the significance of the day, and are not disposed to treat as a play day that which the law has devoted to the sacred purpose of beautifying homes and inculcating a love of trees in the young.

The programs printed in yesterday's JOURNAL were carried out. The songs, essays, recitations, declamations and duets were all rendered in excellent form. The dumb bell drill by eight young ladies of the High School, tastily dressed in white, was a most beautiful exercise, perfect time being kept to music in all the movements. Miss Hall deserves much credit for so successful a presentation of this feature of the program.

The address by Judge Wm. Webster was very interesting and instructive. He had prepared diagrams showing the surface roots and top-roots of mountain trees. With the aid of these he showed why mountain trees cannot be successfully transplanted. He maintained that such trees often send down roots to the depth of over one hundred feet, and cited conclusive facts in support of his statement. The address was replete with information and will furnish our young people with much food for thought. His suggestions in reference to the planting and care of trees is most timely.

After a song by the school, the audience repaired to the school grounds to witness the planting of trees by the Seniors. This enterprising and talented class planted three trees; one in honor of Longfellow, one in memory of the Middle Class, and one as a compliment to Principal Bray. Charles Stewart, Alfred Doren and Louise Linscott were the class orators and did full justice to the occasion.

The Eighth Grade pupils dedicated a tree to Miss Short, at those in the Seventh Grade to Mrs. Booth. Both these ladies doubtless will much be complimented in this action of their loving and appreciative pupils.

Henry L. Beck, who is in from Lovelocks, says an accident occurred to the water wheel at the Lovelock flouring mill which will cause a suspension of operations for eight or ten days. The bevel gearing of two wheels broke and new wheels have to be made and put in before the mill starts up again.

Eczema appeared three years ago and since then I have tried all kinds of remedies for the cure of the disease and had given up all hope of ever being cured. At last I was told to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Olive Ointment. I did so and I am happy to say that I Am Cured of that dreadful skin disease. I have taken sixteen bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and used five boxes of the Ointment. "Walking tours, to be Miss Mount again. It was she who wrote the name in the hotel book at Bormio, and when you called me Miss Mount Kittie was delighted and insisted on keeping up the joke."

"That was a little rough on me," I said in a crestfallen way. The comical side of the situation was apparent to me, and for the moment I forgot the pangs of despised love.
"We did not mean any harm," she murmured humbly. "We used to have such splendid times together when we toured about, Kittie and I. When I heard you call me Miss Mount, I almost forgot that I had a husband in London."
"Poor Field! He would not be flattered."
"You know my husband?"
"Slightly. We meet pretty often in hall," I answered dryly.
"Oh, Mr. Ashurst, what must you think of me? But I do love Edward, and I—I shall be so happy to see him at Pontresina. We are a model couple, and ever so contented. I—I thought that you admired Kittie Morrison. She is such a dear, good girl. She has always been very independent and high spirited, but— Again she stopped, and I read in Mrs. Field's beautiful face the gist of a little romance that had no doubt been simmering in her brain ever since our meeting in the rain swept pass of St. Moritz.
Alas, how easily things go wrong! I had fallen in love with the wife instead of with the maid, thanks to Miss Kittie Morrison's little freak. Betty—I must call her by the name I have called her always in my thoughts—Betty had allowed the freak to be indulged, and I was a broken hearted man—for fully 36 hours. But I could not in mere civility leave the two forlorn women to trudge together to Pontresina, especially now that I knew one of them was the wife of a brother barrister. By the time we reached our Alpine Mecca we were the best of friends again. Field turned up a day or two later, and I staid on, for we all found four a pleasant number than three in our mountain expeditions, and really, Kittie Morrison—she has another name now—was and is a very pretty girl, and she is certainly much less independent than when I first made her acquaintance.—Strand Magazine.

CURIOUS WEDDING CUSTOMS.
Some Odd Phases of Social Life In Northern Michigan.
Many curious customs are in vogue among the foreign population of northern Michigan, especially in social matters. When a French couple get married, a carriage or a sleigh ride is inevitable, according to the season of the year. The couples are not packed together in one wagon or sleigh, but each fellow and his girl have an individual rig, the bride and groom taking the lead and the others following like a funeral procession, but there is nothing funeral about it, especially the pace set. After the procession has been riding for hours, a dance ends the festivities.
The Poles have a curious wedding custom that is very ingenious as a money getter, and takes the place of wedding presents. After the wedding feast follows a dance that sometimes lasts 12 to 14 hours, and even longer. The chief honor is to dance with the bride, and this is decided in a curious manner. The mother of the bride takes her place in one corner with a plate in her lap, which she takes very good care shall be built after the plan of an eating house coffee cup. The gallant who wants to dance with the bride, and all are in honor bound to do so at least once, must pull out a piece of silver and endeavor to clip or break the plate by throwing their money upon it, and only those who succeed in chipping or breaking the plate are allowed the coveted honor. Let those who think it easy to break an ironstone plate try it. Few succeed in doing it for less than 50 cents, and it is not an unusual thing for the bride's money to amount up to $75 or $100, even where the crowd is apparently as poor as a church mouse, and it may go even higher when the bride is pretty and popular. All the money goes to the bride, and in a backwoods country $50 to $75 will start a happy couple nicely in housekeeping.—Detroit Free Press.

A Japanese Test For the Aspiring Bride.
In Japan it appears that one factor entering into the choice of a daughter-in-law is her skill in raising silkworms. There is more to this than appears on the surface of the statement, for it seems that the thread spun by a silkworm is regular and even in proportion as the worm has been regularly and carefully fed. The prospective mother-in-law carefully and minutely examines the garments of the aspiring bride, judging of her qualifications by their condition. This seems even more absurd than the woman who said her son should never marry a woman who could not keep her top bureau drawer in order.—New York Times.
